Breaks Her Crank Shaft

Last Sunday as the steamer Santa Ana of the Alaska Steamship Co. was preparing to dock at Shakan, the crank shaft of her low pressure cylinder broke, putting the vessel out of commission. She was tied up to the wharf and Purser Merchant came over to Wrangell on the fish boat Shakan to wire the news of the accident to the owners. This was done, and the word arrived Wednesday that the tug Richard Holyoke had been dispatched north to tow the disabled vessel to the Sound.

The Santa Ana seems to be experiencing an unlucky streak this season as this is the third accident she has had within a comparative short time. She will be towed to Klawock before starting south, to take on board the pack and crew from the cannery at that place.

The Alaska with the Garnet in tow, is away on a trip to Sitka with lumber for the school buildings there.

Find Free Milling Gold Ore

A report comes down from the Iskut where Frank Coulter and his partners are prospecting, that they have discovered a big lead of free milling gold ore. Fine gold appears on all the bars below the canyon, so miners have always contended that there was a ledge of the precious ore somewhere in the canyon or a short distance above it and the probabilities are—details are lacking—that the prospectors have found the sought for ledge.

To Open Dental Office

Dr. R. C. Mathis and wife are the latest additions to Wrangell's population. They arrived the latter part of last week, and have rented the east end of the Uhler building on Front street. Dr. Mathis formerly conducted a dental office in Los Angeles, California, and as soon as his office appliances arrive from that city, will take up the practice of his profession here in Wrangell.

Headquarters At Wrangell

It looks as though the efforts of those here in Wrangell who have exerted themselves towards getting the government to consider Wrangell as a possible location for the lighthouse district station would meet with success. The Seattle P.-I. recently had the news that Wrangell had been reported on favorably for the site, while the Juneau Record of September 22nd, contained the following:

PORTLAND, Sept. 22.—Commander Tillman, of the lighthouse tender Armeria, will soon be transferred to the newly created Sixteenth Lighthouse District, comprising Alaska, which has been created through the efforts of Governor Clark of Alaska. As yet it has not been decided where the headquarters of the new district will be located, but it is understood that a favorable recommendation has been sent in on behalf of Wrangell, and that the department may select that place. Whether the Armeria will be sent north for duty or another boat obtained for that division has not as yet been decided.

Races At Ketchikan

Either with the desire to furnish the fishermen with a good time, or to give them a chance to loosen up with their checks a little, Ketchikan has bills out announcing that on Saturday, October 1, there will be a series of races for working fish boats and cannery tenders at that place. The Miner states that if the affair is the success anticipated it will be repeated annually.

IT IS WHISPERED

That when Ole Johnson has visitors aboard his launch, he would rather row than run the engine especially when the blamed thing won't go anyway, but it is hard on him when he forgets to take the oars along.

That Kenig Johansson says his head didn't get hurt at Douglas.

That Bill Downing says it is more fun to get "shanghied" on board the Cottage City than to sit all night astride of a log on the flats.

That Johnnie Katzenjammer Kolb talked Dutch to that engine of his on Der Prosit when it balked on taking that fishing crowd to Pat's creek last Saturday. He was on his knees, cranking at the time, so the ladies wonder if he was saying his prayers.

Will Prospect The Iskut

A party consisting of Wm. Lewis, Wm. Fletcher, Oscar Kasheets and Joe Jackson, left for the Iskut yesterday morning. They intend to investigate several rumored finds of ore made by natives, and do some prospecting besides, expecting to be away until the close of navigation. Earlier in the week a party of prospectors arrived up on one of the steamers, and buying a river boat here, went up the river, headed they reported, for the Iskut.

Goes Only Part Way

The river boat Telegraph was unable to go all the way up to Telegraph creek this week. On her last trip in, she stripped the gears on her winch and was thus unable to line up over the bad places. On this account she went only part way this trip, landed the cargo, and returned for the repairs which had been wired for to Seattle.

More Labor Troubles

Lee Young, the Chinese foreman at the cannery had trouble till further orders again this week with his gang of Mexican laborers. It appears that the Mexicans were hired on a different contract than the balance of the crew their time expiring September 25. As the result they refused to go to work on Monday morning unless they were paid extra for it. A compromise was effected whereby the men are to be paid for the excess time, but must board themselves.

Patent Is Granted

Nels Moen was in receipt this week of the news that the United States Patent office had decided favorably on the patent he is applying for on a floating fish trap. Mr. Moen's design contains several features differing from any fish trap now in existence, and it was on these points that the patent was granted.

GOOD TIMES IN SIGHT

It is many a day since the future of Wrangell was as promising as it is at the present time. This year has been a successful one, far and away better than that of 1909, but we are satisfied that it will be completely eclipsed by that of 1911. There can be no questioning the authenticity of the news that the headquarters of the Alaska lighthouse district will be at Wrangell, and the next year will undoubtedly see the beginning of a mining movement setting in up up the Stikine river that will last for generations yet to come. These are the two big things which will come into materialization, but think of the others which are sure to develop—the halibut and salmon fisheries, the demand for both kinds of this fish now exceeding the supply; the lumbering that must be done within the next twelve months to replenish the depleted booms of the different mills; the promised development of new marble quarries, the Vermont people have spent many weeks and much cash of late in prospecting their properties on the north end of Prince of Wales island; the probability of the coming to this point of a cold storage concern to erect a modern plant here in Wrangell—all these and many more are now in store for us.

Don't imagine for a minute that Wrangell isn't the best town in the entire district. She isn't the biggest now, but wait, there's no reason why she shouldn't be within the next five years.

According to papers received from the interior, during the past summer the thermometer registered 85 degrees in the shade at Fairbanks. While this isn't tropical it should open the eyes of some of those people who consider Alaska a land of perpetual frigidity.

Stolen Stories

In the bright sunlight on a railroad station in Georgia slept a colored brother. He snored gently, with his mouth ajar and his long, moist tongue resting on his chest like a pink plush necktie. A Northerner climbed off the train to stretch his legs, unscrewed the top off a capsule, and, advancing on tiptoe, dusted ten grains of quinine on the surface of the darkey's tongue. Presently the negro withdrew his tongue back into his mouth, and instantly he arose with a start and look about him wildly. "Mistah," he said to the joker, "is you a doctah?" "Nope." "Well then, kin you all tell me whar ah kin fin' a doctah, right away?" "What do you want with a docto?" "Ah'm sick."

"How sick?"

"Pow'ful sick."

"Do you know what's the matter with you?"

"Suttin'ly Ah knows whut's the matter with me—mah gall's done busted!"

"The leaves are turning yellow, our fur coats are in soak, therefore the average fellow must hump himself or croak!" Stroller in Whitehorse Star.

Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL Dictionary, (G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unsparing scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

400,000 words and phrases.

6000 illustrations.

HAPPENINGS of INTEREST IN THE BUSY NORTH

The school term at Nome has been reduced to seven months.

Dodging the tax collector is the favorite game at Skagway now-a-days, says the Douglas News.

Up to the first of September but 103 tourists had visited Dawson this season.

Pat Foley, a Spruce creek, Atlin miner fell out of his buggy recently and broke his nose. Better walk next time.

Frank Page is the champion gardener of Skagway, winning that envied position by raising a salmon colored dahlia, 8 inches in diameter.

The Alaska-Pacific Express Co. offers a reward of $10,000 for the arrest and conviction of the thief who got away with those $57,500 bricks.

Ed. Grothjan, a Ketchikan fisherman, recently caught a halibut measuring over seven feet.

The Cordova public schools employ three teachers and the board asks for an allowance of $5,654 for this year's work.

Simeon Poot, an old time Alaskan and formerly owner of the Mt. Elias hotel at Valdez, is building a big hotel at Malden, Wash.

It is claimed that some Alaskan glaciers are progressing at the rate of 12 feet a day. The attention of Pinchot should be called to this shameful waste of ice—Nome Nugget.

The wagon road from Haines to Rainy Hollow has been completed, and the trip can now be made in a day and a half instead of three or four as formerly.

George C. Hazelet, manager of the Cordova Light and Power Co., has notified the Cordova town council that his company will install a new system, capable of supplying 25,000 people.

Gray wolves are charged with having killed a prospector in the Susitna valley. A miner's pack, shreds of clothing, and gnawed bones scattered about, were all that remained to tell the tragic tale.

John Tiberg was arrested in Seattle charged with robbing the sluice boxes of the Pioneer Mining company at Nome. When placed under arrest, Tiberg had fourteen thousand dollars in gold in his possession.

The tug Prosper of the Northwestern Fisheries came into port yesterday from Kanai with Aug. Buschman on board. Mr. Buschman took a crew up there in April, built his cannery and completed a pack of 35,000 cases of red salmon and returned here yesterday on his way south.—Ketchikan Miner.

Looks That Way

While the occasion is not one for flippancy, says the Whitehorse Star, the fact that two big gold dust robberies, one from the Alaska-Pacific express and the other from the mail, took place practically simultaneously, it might not be out of order to suggest that the "Gold Dust Twins" had been busy.
